15. Describe the quantitative effect of the organizational action on the basis of the security in the hands of a U.S. taxpayer as an adjustment per share or as a percentage of old basis

   We caution that this is not tax advice and investors should consult their tax advisor. Currently, based on the reasonable estimates and assumptions made by Hanesbrands Inc, the distributions made by Hanesbrands during the 2015 calendar year are expected to be split between a dividend and a non-dividend distribution. The portion of the distribution that is considered a dividend is approximately 55% and the non-dividend distribution is approximately 45%.

   Generally for US federal income tax purposes, a non-dividend distribution is first treated as a reduction in the shareholders' tax basis in the stock held, and when the basis in the stock is reduced to zero, a non-dividend distribution is then treated as capital gain to the shareholders.

16. Describe the calculation of the change in basis and the data that supports the calculation, such as the market values of securities and the valuation dates

   Hanesbrands Inc is expected to have domestic earnings and profits in 2015 that support dividend treatment for 55% of the distributions made by the company. The remaining 45% is a non-dividend distribution.
